

DOCTOR OF CHIROPRACTIC, DOCTOR NATURAL MEDICINE, DOCTORATE OF PRIMARY CARE

Dr. Eric Nepute is a highly regarded physician, entrepreneur, and thought leader in the health and wellness space, with over 20 years of experience. He specializes in natural and functional medicine, with a focus on regenerative cellular health, peptides, and stem cell technologies. As the founder of Biolimitless, Dr. Nepute is committed to reshaping healthcare through innovative nutritional products and health systems. His approach to wellness is based on the belief that self-care is the new healthcare, aiming to empower individuals to take control of their health through natural, holistic solutions.

Dr. Nepute holds a Doctorate in Natural Medicine and a Doctorate of Chiropractic Medicine, with additional fellowships in Functional Medicine and Functional Neurology. He has operated over 30 clinics across the U.S. and has been involved in international business, including managing a technology company and private equity firm. Additionally, Dr. Nepute has played an active role in healthcare operations, having been a part owner of a hospital system in St. Louis and managing several surgical centers.

A prolific author, Dr. Nepute has written several influential books such as "Divine by Design" and "Becoming Biolimitless," focusing on natural health and wellness at the cellular level. He has been featured on numerous news outlets like Fox News, CNN, and ESPN, and has contributed to various media discussions on health and wellness. His philanthropic work includes funding health and wellness projects in India and building essential infrastructure like wells in underserved communities.

Through his groundbreaking work and dedication, Dr. Nepute continues to be a driving force in the field of natural health, offering transformative solutions to enhance the lives of others.